Module Description

This module is offered to the newly-admitted students to reinforce their study skills, with a special emphasis on oral presentations as in seminars, composition as in written exams and extraction of information from reference books and electronic resources. Besides, students will get a flavour of scientific-terms commonly used in learning and practice.