Module Description

The major focus in biopharmaceutics will be addressing the \textit{in vitro} and \textit{in vivo} factors that affect drug performance in the body during the processes of liberation, absorption, distribution, metabolism, excretion and achievement of response. This course provides basic qualitative description of the biopharmaceutics of drugs that is also needed to understand the fundamentals of clinical pharmacokinetics (level 5/2).