Module Description

This module of the syllabus provides the students with recent advances in antisense technology, genetic engineering, gene therapy and biotechnology with emphasis on pharmaceutical production of drugs (cytokines, growth factors, hormones, and antibodies) and their clinical applications.