Module Description

The main aim is to guide the student about the methods & criteria in writing scientific clinical research. This is a continuation of the first research project. The student starts to perform the experimental part of his project by establishing the methods, collecting data, presenting his work as tables & figures, performing statistical analysis, writing a final report with a discussion and a conclusion. The course ends up by presenting a written report as well as a power point presentation.