Module Description

The main aim is to guide the student about the types of formulations, dosage forms used in veterinary medicine.