

Research & Development

Innovations in material development, modelling and simulation for improved performance and life cycle of engineering components and structures.

Consulting

Advising the industry for enhancement of present manufacturing processes and products using advanced materials.

Education & Training

Short courses and workshops in materials science and engineering.